

SHAW RUFFLED SOME FEATHERS

Secretary of the Treasury Attended Meeting of Pittsburg Chamber of Commerce.

SOME CHARGES OF "GRAFT" READY TO FACE DEFICIT

CABINET OFFICER MADE INDIGNANT DENIAL.

Pittsburg, Nov. 26.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw, who came to Pittsburg to inspect sites for a postoffice building, left for Washington tonight after a most strenuous day, in which he traveled over a great deal of the center of the city and held meetings with the representatives of the various business men's organizations, which were characterized by heated arguments, in which the president's cabinet officer did not hesitate to express himself. At one of the meetings the secretary snapped his finger in the face of H. D. W. English, president of the local Chamber of Commerce, who left the hearing, declaring that he would make a statement on the matter after he had reached Washington.

Result of Protests.
The secretary's visit today was the result of vigorous protests made against his selection of a site for the new postoffice building, and against which the government had begun condemnation proceedings. These latter proceedings were stopped when the protests reached the secretary, endorsed by a local congressman, and it was announced the site selected by the secretary was offered to the government at double the amount for which it was assessed. When the condemnation proceedings were stopped the secretary announced his intention personally to inspect the site offered, and he arrived this morning.

The meeting of the various committees of business men's organizations was held at the federal building, and it was here that numerous displays of anger were made.

Graft Was Charged.
Since the secretary had made a selection of a site there had been declarations of "graft" and before the business at hand was taken up Mr. Shaw turned to newspaper men present and said:
"I would give $100,000 to the name of the man who gave the information that there was graft in the hearings at Washington when the real estate men were there."

Secretary Shaw said to the real estate men:
"Those of you who did not get a square deal before me at Washington in the previous hearings will please rise."
No one rose.

Only an Annex.
The controversy between Secretary Shaw and the business interests grows out of a misunderstanding as to the use of the appropriation of the last congress made for the Pittsburg postoffice. When the appropriation was made it was understood by the business interests of Pittsburg that a new postoffice was to be built, but when Secretary Shaw made his decision on a site that precipitated the present controversy he announced that it was for an annex to the present building, and therefore the new building must necessarily be in the neighborhood of the present union station.

Shaw Was Sarcastic.
The rift with President English of the Chamber of Commerce came during a period of the hearing when angry recriminations were being indulged in and repartees for veracity were being challenged. During this controversy Mr. Shaw is alleged to have said that the chamber amounted to no more than anybody else, and that any person could come in and be heard. He told the president of the Chamber of Commerce that his organization had no weight, and there was another flare-up. President English then denounced it as the greatest farce he had ever witnessed, and said that the combined business and financial interests of the city would probably get together and appeal to the president.

COUNCIL DESIRES BALANCE SHEET

Votes $5,000 to Establish Better System of Account Keeping.

READY TO FACE DEFICIT CONTRACTORS LEAVE SIDEWALKS IN WRETTCHED SHAPE.

In the twinkling of an eye, and without a voice raised in opposition, the city council appropriated $5,000 at its regular session last night, for the purpose of revising and placing on an up-to-the-minute basis the accounting system in the various departments of the city government.

The appropriation was called for in a resolution introduced by Councilman W. Mont Perry, which was as follows:
"Whereas, The system of accounts now in use in the different departments of the city is antiquated and cumbersome; and
"Whereas, It is altogether advisable that a simpler, more complete and more modern system be installed, in order that the business of the city may be done with economy and expedition;
"Now therefore, Be it resolved, That the finance committee of the city council be and the same hereby is authorized and empowered to employ a competent accountant to carry out the aforesaid plan under the direction and with the aid of the finance committee."

Get a Balance Sheet.
"What's it for?" asked Councilman Mulvey. "To get a balance sheet? Well, that's what we need. We know we're in debt, but we want to know how much." Councilman F. S. Fernstrom being absent, no other questions were asked, and the resolution was passed without a dissenting vote.

Another appropriation of $250, was made at the request of Assistant City Attorney H. J. Diminney, who said that he needed new lawbooks in the office of the city attorney. He will get the books.

The council became economical when the matter of painting the sprinkling carts came up for discussion. A bid of $32 per cart had been accepted. He asked $8 for turned down, and a lower bid of $18 per wagon was accepted. The waterwagons will be made more attractive before they are again seen upon the streets.

Pay for Clipping Horses.
Frank Angell, a member of the fire department, put in a bill for tonorial services rendered to four horses used by the department. He asked $4 for clipping the animals, and the matter was referred back to the committee.

A contract was made with the Hyrum A. Silver Foundry & Machine company, for furnishing steel and iron for the intake at the head of the Big Cottonwood dam, which was approved by the council.

New Map of the City.
The city engineer was ordered to make a new map, to include the new arrangement of the streets as adopted by the council. The new map, which was made by the city engineer, was printed in The Herald ten days ago.

The appointments of David Keith, Alex S. Baker, W. H. Watkins and F. Groves as members of the fire department were confirmed without opposition. Dr. Crapsey, who refused to avail himself of a proposed appeal to the civil courts.

Bishop Potter Scored.
"While the case was still under judicial consideration, while every consideration of fairness made it proper for one of his responsible place to be silent in it," says Mr. "Bishop" Potter, old his clergyman in unmistakable fashion, though resorting to the device of not mentioning a name, that Dr. Crapsey's motive has been a morbid desire to hold on to the money revenues of his place. This false and indecent imputation comes from a bishop who for many years has been conspicuously indifferent to preaching in his own diocese more heretical than Dr. Crapsey's was deemed to be. The imputation is a disgrace to the clergy and a credit to the man who knows it. Dr. Crapsey has not, as he would have it, been a minister, lived with the rich; he is served today by a butler and a "second man," and a footman, and a coachman; he is not one of the chief figures at the dinner tables of the private palaces of his city; he is neither used to nor fond of poverty and hardship. But although Dr. Crapsey is deficient in these, he has given his entire life to the work of carrying Christianity to the industrious poor of the city in which he lives."

Must Specify Kind of Work.
Councilman Black started a small-sized thunderstorm when he introduced a resolution requiring that all requisitions for labor in the various departments must specify the kind of work done, and the ward or street in which the work is to be done must also be specified.

Councilman Martin said that he was getting tired of the street department spending seventy-five per cent of the money in the Second and Third wards, and said that the councilmen should other wards never get a thing unless they get in and scramble for it. He did not say that he was getting tired of the street department, but he handed to him on a platter, but indicated that other precincts were getting more than their share. The resolution was referred to a committee.

CORONER'S JURY FINDS THAT THOMAS WHITE WAS KILLED THROUGH MISHAP.

Verdict Not Popular.

MURDER IDEA NOT PROVEN

RESULT OF INQUEST CAUSES DIS-SATISFACTION.

The coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict of accidental shooting in the case of Thomas White, the blacksmith for the Bingham Central mine, who was believed to have been murdered early Saturday morning at Bingham.

Six witnesses were examined at the inquest held before Justice Lee, and the evidence showed that White came to his death by a bullet fired by his own gun as he sat in the office of the mine superintendent. No one heard the shot fired and White had been dead about an hour when the body was found. There were no signs of a struggle and the body lay across the floor in a position that blocked the doorway so that it would have been hard for the murderer, if there was one, to escape from the room after the victim had fallen.

Verdict Not Popular.
There was no evidence that anyone other than White had been seen about the office that morning, and the jury concluded that while White was handling his gun it was accidentally discharged and the bullet inflicted the fatal wound.

In certain quarters the verdict of the jury is not approved, and many of White's associates still cling to the theory that he was murdered. They say that the gun was found twelve feet from the body of the dead man, and contend that from the nature of the wound it would have been impossible for White to have thrown the gun that distance after it was fired. Moreover, the Austrians living near the mining camp are known to have been hostile toward the officers of the mine, and especially toward White, and they are said to have threatened the murder of the blacksmith.

To Continue Investigation.
The investigation in the case will, however, be continued despite the findings of the jury. Deputy sheriffs are still at work on the case and are looking up the whereabouts of all the Austrians in the community at the time the crime was committed.

The verdict of the jury is as follows:
"State of Utah, Tenth precinct, County of Salt Lake.
An inquest having been held in the justice court of the Tenth precinct, county of Salt Lake, on the 26th day of November, 1906, before the justice of the peace of the Tenth precinct, in said county, upon the body of Thomas White, there lying dead, and the jury, who were sworn to and sworn to, do hereby certify that the said Thomas White came to his death by the accidental discharge of a revolver."
The members of the jury were W. H. Myers, John Falconer and L. T. Crane.

SHEPARD DEFENDS CLIENT

Counsel for Dr. Crapsey Expresses Contempt for Bishop Potter of New York.

New York, Nov. 26.—In a statement issued today, Edward M. Shepard, of counsel for Dr. A. S. Crapsey, the Rochester clergyman who was convicted of heresy by an ecclesiastical court of the Episcopal church, sharply criticized recent utterances of Bishop Potter. During a session of the diocesan convention which was held at the Episcopal church, the bishop declared that those who attacked it should do so from without rather than from within the church. In his statement Mr. Shepard says that Dr. Crapsey's subsequent resignation of his ministry was contrary to the advice of his counsel, and that he believed it will be held up as a warning to all ministers of the gospel who would hold as void the decision of the ecclesiastical tribunal. Dr. Crapsey, however, he says, refused to avail himself of a proposed appeal to the civil courts.

Bishop Potter Scored.
"While the case was still under judicial consideration, while every consideration of fairness made it proper for one of his responsible place to be silent in it," says Mr. "Bishop" Potter, old his clergyman in unmistakable fashion, though resorting to the device of not mentioning a name, that Dr. Crapsey's motive has been a morbid desire to hold on to the money revenues of his place. This false and indecent imputation comes from a bishop who for many years has been conspicuously indifferent to preaching in his own diocese more heretical than Dr. Crapsey's was deemed to be. The imputation is a disgrace to the clergy and a credit to the man who knows it. Dr. Crapsey has not, as he would have it, been a minister, lived with the rich; he is served today by a butler and a "second man," and a footman, and a coachman; he is not one of the chief figures at the dinner tables of the private palaces of his city; he is neither used to nor fond of poverty and hardship. But although Dr. Crapsey is deficient in these, he has given his entire life to the work of carrying Christianity to the industrious poor of the city in which he lives."

THREE MEN WILL ASK LICENSES

Enthusiastic Meeting Is Held at Chamber of Commerce and Legislation Discussed.

Nurserymen doing business in Utah will have to take out licenses from state authorities, their products will be subjected to an annual inspection by state officers, and the entire nursery business of the state organized and pruned of its present objectionable features, if the plans formulated yesterday by twenty representative nurserymen of the state at a meeting in Salt Lake, are carried through successfully.

The nurserymen present at the meeting represented Salt Lake, Weber, Box Elder, Davis and Utah counties. They met with the members of the state board of horticulture in the new Chamber of Commerce building.

Will Introduce Bill.

The nurserymen want legislation for their own protection, and a bill is to be introduced into the legislature this winter, backed by the state horticulture board, that will cover half a dozen things needed to the improvement of the legitimate nursery business of the state.

The licensing of all nurserymen will be the most important provision of this bill. The present law in Utah can grow and sell a tree, whether it be healthy or not. As a consequence of this, the nurserymen claim, their business is suffering and the standard of their products is being greatly impaired.

Will Organize Right Soon.

The proposed organization of the nurserymen for the more advantageous transaction of their exchange business, announcement of which was made exclusively in The Herald last week, was thoroughly discussed at yesterday's meeting.

The nurserymen are in favor of organizing and after three hours' discussion left the final decision in Utah can grow and sell a tree, whether it be healthy or not. As a consequence of this, the nurserymen claim, their business is suffering and the standard of their products is being greatly impaired.

A DOCTOR'S TRIALS.

He Sometimes Gets Sick Like Other People.

Even doing good to people is hard work if you have too much of it to do. No one knows this better than the hard-working conscientious family doctor. He has troubles of his own—often gets caught in the rain or snow, or loses so much sleep he sometimes gets out of sorts. An overworked Ohio doctor tells his experience.

"About three years ago as the result of doing two men's work, attending a large practice and looking after the details of another business, my health broke down completely, and I was little better than a physical wreck.

"I suffered from indigestion and constipation, loss of weight and appetite, bloating and pain after meals, loss of memory and the state of nerve force for continued mental application.

"I became irritable, easily angered and despondent without cause. The heart's action became irregular and weak with frequent attacks of palpitation during the first hour or two after retiring.

"Some Grape-Nuts and cut bananas came for my lunch one day and pleased me particularly with the result. I got more satisfaction from it than from anything I had eaten for months, and on further investigation and use, adopted Grape-Nuts for my morning and evening meals, served usually with cream and a sprinkle of salt or sugar.

"My improvement was rapid and permanent in weight as well as in physical and mental endurance. In a word, I am filled with the joy of living again, and continue the daily use of Grape-Nuts for breakfast and often for the evening meal.

"The little pamphlet, 'The Road to Wellville,' found in packages, is invariably saved and handed to some needy patient along with the medicine remedy." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "There's a reason."
